

Pest/Weed Control

If weeds or pests get a hold of your property, it can take months or even years to restore it to its former glory, resulting in your property dropping in value. However, with the right preventive measures and pest control techniques, you can have peace of mind. EarthWorks can provide expertise and experience to help combat stubborn weeds and prevent future pest outbreaks.

Pre-Emergent Weed Control

When attacking weeds, pre-germination is the most effective strategy. We can help keep those unwelcome weeds at bay with one of our prevention techniques. Don't let weeds get a hold of your outdoor areas; start treatment to prevent outbreaks and allow us to calculate the precise timing to maximize efficiency.

Preventive and Restoring Pest Control

It can be incredibly frustrating to deal with pests on your property, but it doesn't have to be disastrous. Common pests found on properties are scale insects, grubs, spider mites, aphids, bagworms, and armyworms. Regardless of what you are up against—EarthWorks has a customizable solution to restore your property to what it was before the outbreak.

EarthWorks pest management programs can be adapted to fit your needs, depending on the current landscaping design, plants, and whether you already have an outbreak. We set up an action plan as soon as we have diagnosed the issue to ensure you get a fully customized pest control solution.

Post-Emergent Weed Control

Winning the war against weeds is far from easy, but it usually comes down to using the right methods. Already sprouted weeds are tough to beat, but at EarthWorks, we have been in business since 1979 and have the experience and techniques to offer quick results, whether you are dealing with grassy weeds, broadleaf weeds, or something different. We adjust our services to your needs.
